Student Learning Outcomes	Assessment Methods & Criteria	Student Learning Evidence	Utilization of Evidence
Graduates will demonstrate a basic knowledge of political science	Assessment of this outcome will be evaluated by administration of the Major Field Test.	BSS had one graduate in the Bachelor of General Studies with a concentration in Political Science. The graduate was administered the Major Field Test (MFT) in the Spring 2012 semester. According to Educational Testing Services (ETS) the score equating process for the Political Science Test has yet to be completed. See the following message from ETS: "Political Science Test - The 130 multiple-choice questions on the Major Field Test in Political Science are drawn from the courses of study most commonly offered in undergraduate programs and cover United States government and politics, comparative politics, international relations, and political theory and philosophy. PLEASE NOTE that scores on this form will not be available until the score equating process has been completed. Open cohorts started prior to the release of the new form will continue to produce both individual and aggregate score reports. Click on About Scores and Reports for more information about the equating process." Data is insufficient to determine attainment of goal.	The base of graduates who earn a BGS with a concentration in Political Science continues to grow. Each graduate will continue to take the MFT. The BSS department will continue to monitor results while ETS compiles data for a national norm score for the political science test.
