

Skyline

By Hope

Made it to the ocean for sunrise, only to find cloud filled skies
But a knowing came that nature still provides Limitless bliss
I am grateful for this Moment with the waves Awaiting the coming together
As the tide kisses the shore gently
I can feel the fullness of the moon in these waters And in my waters as She speaks
Set your intentions for each moment
And in this one
It is to ground
A deeper part of yourself is found In stillness
It is in the surrender
I remember
That the ebb and flow within Resemble the parts of the ocean That nobody seas
until the tide lowers
And stills
the current work
will be revealed
In the sand Vulnerable Exposed
Sides of you nobody knows existed UNTIL NOW & You've got a crowd
looking at all you choose not to heal And maybe you'll feel someday
When you allow expectation to die Knowing there's more to find
When you feel within the lines Provided by the skies

the moon & I
Not the nighttime moon
The moon that brings in the sun

The morning moon
That early bird gets the worm moon
She is the one I talk to
In the silence of the rising Before the break of Dawn
I listen
I sit
She tells me all I am “missing”
Is right in front of me
We have forgotten how to understand her song Beginning to count the days along
When we are simply meant to wait Until she is all of herself once more Allowing us to explore
The present moment
I experience the fullness of it all
When I sit with the moon
As she gives her last cal