Information on Fall 2020 Classes

To ensure the health and safety of everyone on campus, we have been making some changes, and one of the biggest changes is how we will offer classes this fall. There will be several formats:

- On Campus classes: Will meet at their regularly scheduled times and days. There will be appropriate distancing in the classrooms and masks will be required.

- Hyflex classes: Students will rotate between meeting in a classroom and meeting remotely via video conference (Zoom). Courses will be held at their regularly scheduled times and days.

- Remote classes: Will not have any meetings on campus but remotely, via video conference (Zoom) at the regularly scheduled class time. Remote courses offer students the opportunity to have a structured class environment and engage on a personal level with classmates and faculty without physically being on campus.

Additionally, students taking courses in 100% Online programs may login at their convenience and complete coursework and discussion online.

All classes have been listed with the format in which they will be offered. There are two ways you can find out the format of your classes: either log into to self-service and look the class up under the class search function; or log into mylsua and review your schedule.

If you happen to have a remote class between two on-campus classes, there will be space available in the ballroom and the library to participate in your classes.

Please note that we are still in the process of moving class locations, so I encourage you to check your schedule before classes begin; it’s possible that a classroom assignment or format may have changed since you last checked.

I encourage you to reach out if you have any questions about these new formats and visit our coronavirus update page for the latest plans www.lsua.edu/coronavirus-updates
